

That didn't stop around 60 parishioners gathering in the meeting room (should we call it the party room?) to celebrate the feast of St Joseph in this year of St Joseph and in the parish of St Joseph. We were especially pleased that Father Brian and Father Jepser joined us, as did Sister Cletus Dullard CSB, (Father Gerry's sister), who is in Melbourne visiting her brother in the Alfred.

New Parish Council members Aparna Nirmal Mangaaden and Paul Argyle joined in and agreed that this was a good opportunity to meet other parishioners. As you would expect, the variety of goodies was almost endless – cheese top rolls, coffee scrolls, donuts, brownies, cheese scones, and that was just for starters. Our Parish Council Co-Chairman Charles, put on his barista hat and brewed some sensational coffee for all comers – the queue was always long waiting for his meticulously measured lattes, espressos, etc. Needless to say, the orange juice and iced water jugs were hardly touched. Charles even took time out to conduct a short barista class for interested attendees.

That didn't stop around 60 parishioners gathering in the meeting room (should we call it the party room?) to celebrate the feast of St Joseph in this year of St Joseph and in the parish of St Joseph. We were especially pleased that Father Brian and Father Jepser joined us, as did Sister Cletus Dullard CSB, (Father Gerry's sister), who is in Melbourne visiting her brother in the Alfred.

New Parish Council members Aparna Nirmal Mangaaden and Paul Argyle joined in and agreed that this was a good opportunity to meet other parishioners. As you would expect, the variety of goodies was almost endless – cheese top rolls, coffee scrolls, donuts, brownies, cheese scones, and that was just for starters. Our Parish Council Co-Chairman Charles, put on his barista hat and brewed some sensational coffee for all comers – the queue was always long waiting for his meticulously measured lattes, espressos, etc. Needless to say, the orange juice and iced water jugs were hardly touched. Charles even took time out to conduct a short barista class for interested attendees.